The Japan Information Center Program

In 2017, JIIA has launched a new project to offer a broad range of views on geostrategic and historical issues that Japan currently faces. We present in English the latest discussion on Japan's evolving foreign policy as it adapts to new geopolitical realities. JIIA believes that this project will be an indispensable source of information and ideas for anyone interested in Japan's foreign relations. Under this program, we organize symposium, upload English translation of academic papers by Japanese scholars, and publish the Japan Review and newsletters.

About Us

The Japan Institute of International Affairs (JIIA) is an independent, nonpartisan policy think-tank focused on foreign and security policy. In 1959, former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida founded JIIA to deepen understanding of international affairs in Japan and to support Japan's international relations. JIIA ranked 14th globally and 1st in Asia in the 2018 Global Go To Think Tank Index offered by the Lauder Institute, University of Pennsylvania.

Japan Review

The Japan Review is published in English four times a year, offering a broad range of expertise on foreign policy issues connected to East Asia. With the Japan Review, our objective is to outline key areas related to the context and challenges Japan faces on a range of historical and geo-strategic issues. The Japan Review will look at these issues from a global analytical perspective. It will also offer analysis of Japan's evolving foreign policy as it adapts to new geopolitical realities. The Japan Review welcomes contributions by both Japanese and foreign experts working on these topics.

Resource Library

JIIA translates research articles from Japanese to English to promote high-quality Japanese scholarly works on international relations. All articles are open for personal use and research. The articles are available at:

- Resource Library
<https://www.jiia-jic.jp/en/resourcelibrary/> or
- The Japan Institute of International Affairs Repository
<https://jiia.repo.nii.ac.jp/?lang=english>

Policy Brief

Policy Briefs are policy essays by JIIA Fellows and other experts on geo-strategic and historical issues. They are available at:

<https://www.jiia-jic.jp/en/policybrief/>
